Arresting officer who arrived at the scene of accident and observed defendant sitting behind steering wheel of an automobile which had collided with rear-end of a tractor-trailer, and where defendant was unable to produce an operator's permit, arrest of defendant was justified and pistol discovered on defendant's person in routine weapons check was admissible as incident to a lawful arrest. Id.

Restricted license

Driver whose operator's license was subject to restriction that he wear glasses and who operated automobile without glasses was guilty of operating automobile contrary to restricted license notwithstanding his own medical examination showing such glasses were no longer necessary. B. Reis v. District of Columbia (D.C., App. 1967. 230 A. 2d 487).

§ 40–302. Revocation or suspension of operators' permits—Procedure—New permit after revocation—Nonresidents—Penalty.

(a) Except where for any violation of this chapter revocation of the operator's permit is mandatory, the Commissioners or their designated agent may with or without a prior hearing revoke or suspend an operator's permit for any cause which they or their agent may deem sufficient: Provided, That in each case where a permit is revoked or suspended the reasons therefor shall be set out in the order of revocation or suspension: Provided further, That such order shall take effect five days after its issuance unless the holder of the permit shall have filed within such period, written application with the Commissioners of the District of Columbia for a review of their order or the order of their agent, and, if upon such review, the Commissioners shall sustain such order, the same shall become effective immediately: Provided further, That application to said Commissioners for a review shall not operate as a stay of such order of the commissioners or their agent when the order has been issued revoking or suspending a permit on account of mental or physical incapacity, for driving under the influence of liquor or narcotic drugs; for manslaughter when an automobile is involved, or for operating a motor vehicle equipped with a smoke screen.

An individual whose permit is denied, suspended, or revoked by the commissioners or their agent may, if application for a review by the commissioners of an order for revocation or suspension is not filed, or if an application for review by them is filed, after the commissioners' decision on the review, petition the District of Columbia Court of Appeals for a review of the order or decision in the manner provided by the District of Columbia Administrative Procedure Act (D.C. Code, secs. 1–1501 to 1–1510).

This section is referred to in sections 25–127, 40–205, 40–603, 40–612, 47–2331.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Administrative action

Mere fact that proof tended to reveal at a suspension hearing before permit control officer of District of Columbia Department of Motor Vehicles that 17-year-old driver, whose license was suspended, was driving while under influence of alcohol did not thereby convert the proceedings, administrative in character, into a judicial proceeding of the kind Congress assigned exclusively to juvenile court. K. P. Murphy, a minor etc. v. W. D. Heath, Director, etc. (D.C. App. 1969, 256 A. 2d 421).

The court held that the exclusive jurisdiction in judicial proceedings conferred by Juvenile Court Act on the juvenile court is not a jurisdictional bar to the Id. administrative action of suspending motor vehicle operator's permit of 17-year-old driver.

Construction

Statute which permits the revocation or suspension of an operator's permit for any cause deemed sufficient was properly interpreted as permitting such revocation or suspension only for violations of usual and reasonable traffic regulations and, so construed, did not unconstitutionally delegate legislative authority. W. R. Franklin v. District of Columbia (D.C. App. 1968, 248 A. 2d 677).

SHORT TITLE

The enacting clause of act Oct. 31, 1969, Pub. L. 91–106 provided: "That this Act (classified to this and other sections of titles 1 App., 25, 40 and 47 of the D.C. Code. See tables for complete classification of this Act) may be cited as the 'District of Columbia Revenue Act of 1969'."

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS TO DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA COUNCIL

Section 402(294) of Reorg. Plan No. 3 of 1967, effective November 3, 1967, transferred the regulatory and other functions of the Board of Commissioners, under this section with respect to making rules and regulations, to the District of Columbia Council, subject to the right of the Commissioner as provided by section 406 of the Plan. For provisions establishing the District of Columbia Council, see section 201 of Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1967, set out in the appendix to title 1.

§ 40–420. Review by Commissioners.

Any order or act of any agent of the Commissioners under the provisions of this chapter shall be subject to review by the Commissioners. Application for review of any such order or act shall be in writing and shall set out in detail the reasons for such review. Such application shall be filed with the Commissioners within five days after the issuance of the order or occurrence of the act in question. If upon review the Commissioners shall sustain such order or act, the same shall become effective immediately.

Any person whose license or motor-vehicle registration shall be denied, suspended, or revoked by the Commissioners under the provisions of this chapter may, within thirty days after such denial, revocation, or suspension has been reviewed by the Commissioners and sustained by them, file in the District of Columbia Court of Appeals an application for the allowance of an appeal from the order or decision of the Commissioners. Appeal shall be as provided in the District of Columbia Administrative Procedure Act (D.C. Code, secs. 1–1501 to 1–1510).

For the purposes of this section, the phrase "review by the Commissioners" shall mean a review by the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia or a review by any board of review established by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia to review the order or act of any agent of the Commissioners pursuant to the provisions of this chapter. No member of such board of review established by the Commissioners shall review any of his own orders or acts. (May 25, 1954, 68 Stat. 122, ch. 222, § 4; Aug. 28, 1958, 72 Stat. 954, Pub. L. 85–792, § 3; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 78, Pub. L. 88–60, § 6; July 29, 1970, Pub. L. 91–358, § 163(h), title I, 84 Stat. 583.)

AMENDMENTS

1970—Section 163(h) of Act July 29, 1970, Public Law 91–358 amended the second paragraph of section by striking out the second and succeeding sentences and inserting in lieu thereof "Appeal shall be as provided in the District of Columbia Administrative Procedure Act (D.C. Code, secs. 1–1501 to 1–1510)."

For provisions of stricken matter see 1967 edition of the code.

1958—Act Aug. 28, 1958, struck the second sentence providing for filing of application of review with commissioners within five days after issuance of order or occurrence complained of, and added the new matter set out as the second and third sentences of the section.

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1970 AMENDMENT

See note preceding section 11–101.

EFFECTIVE DATE

CHANGE OF NAME

Act July 8, 1963, § 6, substituted "District of Columbia Court of Appeals" for "Municipal Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia". AUTHORITY OF COMMISSIONERS NOT AFFECTED—DELEGATION OF AUTHORITY

Section 16 of act Aug. 28, 1958, provides as follows: "Nothing in this Act shall be construed so as to affect the authority vested in the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia by Reorganization Plan Numbered 5 of 1952 (66 Stat. 824). The performance of any function vested by this Act in the Board of Commissioners or in any office or agency under the jurisdiction and control of said Board of Commissioners may be delegated by said Board of Commissioners in accordance with section 3 of such plan."

SECTION REFERRED TO IN OTHER SECTIONS

This section is referred to in section 40–493.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Construction

In authorizing substituted service on nonresident motorists, in derogation of the common law, Motor Vehicle Safety Responsibility Act affects substantial rights and must therefore be strictly construed and strictly complied with. R. J. Heinrich v. R. S. Huke (D.C. App. 1968, 244 A. 2d 915).

Delay in delivery of summons and complaint to Marshal

Failure of plaintiff to deliver summonses and copies of complaint to the United States Marshal until 18 days after period of limitations had run was not excusable because of fact that two of corporate defendants were not residents of the District of Columbia and could not be sued and would not be served until plaintiff first filed traffic act bond required by D.C. Code. Criterion Insurance Company, etc. v. W. L. Lyles, et al. (D.C. App. 1968, 244 A. 2d 913).

Delay in mailing summons and complaint

Although copies of summons and complaint were served upon Director of Motor Vehicles in action arising out of motor vehicle collision in Distrct of Columbia with nonresident motorist, mailing summons and complaint to nonresident motorist seven months after statute of limitations had run constituted failure to comply with statutory requirement that notice of such service and copy of process be sent "forthwith" by registered mail. R. J. Heinrich v. R. S. Huke (D.C. App. 1968, 244 A. 2d 915).

Filing of return receipt

Filing of return receipt is not an integral part of the District of Columbia Motor Safety Responsibility Act which authorizes substituted service on nonresident motorist since jurisdiction attaches when service is made on the Director of Motor Vechicles and the nonresident receives copies of the process and notice of service. M. L. Harper v. E. W. Catherton, Jr. (D.C. App. 1969, 255 A. 2d 492).

Place of service of notice

Although defendant was a resident of Maryland at the time service was purported to have been made under the District of Columbia Motor Safety Responsibility Act that fact did not render notice to the defendant in Virginia at his place of work ineffective, as the statute requires that notice of such service be sent to defendant, not to him at his residence. M. L. Harper v. E. W. Catherton, Jr. (D.C. App. 1969, 255 A. 2d 492).

Notice is essential to the court's jurisdiction. Id.

Proof of service of notice

Since there was no conclusive proof one way or the other that nonresident motorist actually received notice of service, purported to have been made under the District of Columbia Motor Safety Responsibility Act, it was not error to vacate default judgement previously entered against motorist. M. L. Harper v. E. W. Catherton, Jr. (D.C. App. 1969, 255 A. 2d 492).

§ 40–424. Operator deemed to be agent of owner.

SECTION REFERRED TO IN OTHER SECTIONS

This section is referred to in section 40–493.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Action against owner of vehicle

The fact that D.C. Employees Non-Liability Act barred an action by a passenger-schoolteacher against a driver-schoolteacher did not preclude an action by passenger-schoolteacher against the owner of the vehicle. F. P. Davis et ano. v. P. O. Harrod et ano. (1969, 407 F. 2d 1280, 132 U.S. App. D.C. 345).

Common law presumption

As to an area which is not covered by District of Columbia Financial Responsibility Law, plaintiff was entitled to common-law presumption. F. O. Gaither v. C. R. Myers et ano. (1968, 404 F. 2d 216, 131 U.S. App. D.C. 216, see also 232 A. 2d 577).

Consent

The "consent" which is contemplated by a statute creating a presumption that motor vehicle was being operated with the consent of the owner is an informed consent, based on knowledge, not clouded by mistake or misrepresentation, or produced by error of fact. J. A. McClellan v. Allstate Insurance Company etc., et al. (D.C. App. 1968, 247 A. 2d 58).

A presumption that a motor vehicle involved in an accident was being operated with the consent of owner is a rebuttable one and continues only until overcome by uncontradicted proof sufficient to destroy the inference. Id.

Evidence overcoming presumption

Statutory presumption that proof of ownership of motor vehicle shall be prima facie evidence that motor vehicle was being operated with consent of owner may be overcome by uncontradicted denial by the owner, and in such a case a directed verdict for owner is proper. C. R. Meyers et ano. v. F. O. Gaither (D.C. App. 1967, 232 A. 2d 577; remanded 404 F. 2d 216).

Evidence that automobile of defendant was involved in accident in Maryland about 11:30 p.m., that it was not until about 3:30 a.m., after repeated telephone calls, that police succeeded in contacting owner, and testimony of owner that he had been at his home all evening made question for jury whether automobile was being operated by owner or with owner's consent. Id.

Extra territorial effect

The District of Columbia Financial Responsibility Law was inapplicable where at the time of injury the automobile was being operated in Maryland. F. O. Gaither v. C. R. Myers et ano. (1968, 404 F. 2d 216, 131 U.S. App. D.C. 216, see also 232 A. 2d 577).

Application of evidentiary clause of District of Columbia statute that proof of ownership of automobile shall be prima facie evidence that automobile was operated with consent of owner to trial of cause of action arising from operation of automobile in Maryland did not give statute extra-territorial effect. C. R. Meyers et ano. v. F. O. Gaither (D.C. App. 1967, 232 A. 2d 577; remanded 404 F. 2d 216).

Issue of permission to use automobile

Evidence on the issue of whether defendant automobile owner consented to use of her automobile by defendant driver, who was an employee of corporation of which owner was a major stockholder, and who had used owner's automobile on other occasions, and with whom owner left her keys and note about certain errands, was for the jury in action for damages sustained by plaintiffs in collision with that automobile. M. Williams v. M. Baines and F. Baines (D.C. App. 1969, 257 A. 2d 762).

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Constitutionality

The plaintiff's claim of unconstitutionality of this section, requiring suspension of drivers' licenses and automobile registrations for persons who are involved in automobile accident causing more than $100 damages and are either uninsured, unable to post security, or unable to obtain release from other parties involved, was so insubstantial as not to require the convening of a three-judge federal court. J. F. Cheek et al. v. W. E. Washington, et al. (1970, 311 F. Supp. 965).

Congress has reposed issuance and retraction of driver's licenses within the discretion of the Commissioners and it may surround this grant with reasonable requisites and contingencies. Id.

(i) All prosecutions for violations of this chapter, excepting section 40–610, and this act or regulations made and promulgated under authority of this chapter shall be in the Superior Court of the District of Columbia upon information filed by the corporation counsel of the District of Columbia or any of his assistants.

(j) In addition to the fees and charges levied under other provisions of this chapter, there is hereby levied and imposed an excise tax for the issuance of every original certificate of title for a motor vehicle or trailer in the District, and for the issuance of every subsequent certificate of title for a motor vehicle or trailer in the District in the case of sale or resale thereof, at the rate of 4 per centum of the fair market value of such motor vehicle or trailer at the time such certificate is issued, as determined by the Assessor of the District of Columbia or his duly authorized representatives. As used in this section, the term "original certificate of title" shall mean the first certificate of title issued by the District of Columbia for any particular motor vehicle or trailer. No certificate of title so issued shall be delivered or furnished to the person entitled thereto until the tax has been paid in full. The Assessor of the District of Columbia may require every applicant for a certificate of title to supply such information as he deems necessary as to the time of purchase, the purchase price, and other information relative to the determination of the fair market value of any motor vehicle or trailer for which a certificate of title is required and issued. The issuance of certificates of title for the following motor vehicles and trailers shall be exempt from the tax imposed by this subsection:

(1) Motor vehicles and trailers owned by the United States or the District of Columbia.

(2) Motor vehicles and trailers purchased or acquired by nonresidents prior to coming into the District of Columbia and establishing or maintaining residences in the District.

(3) Motor vehicles and trailers purchased or acquired by nonresidents prior to coming into the District of Columbia and establishing or maintaining a business or businesses in the District. Except as hereinafter provided, it is not intended to exempt from the tax the issuance of certificates of title for motor vehicles and trailers owned by nonresidents who are engaged in business in the District at the time of their purchase or acquisition of such vehicles and trailers and who use such vehicles and trailers in the conduct of their District business or businesses.

(4) Motor vehicles and trailers owned by a utility or public service company for use in furnishing a commodity or service: Provided, That the receipts from furnishing such commodity or service are subject to a gross-receipts or mileage tax in force in the District of Columbia at the time of a certificate of title for any such vehicle or trailer is issued.

(5) New motor vehicles acquired from dealers as replacements for defective vehicles purchased new not more than sixty days prior to the date of such replacement, except that if the fair market value of any replacement vehicle is greater than that of the vehicle which it replaces, than the tax imposed by this section shall be paid on such difference in value. If the fair market value of any replacement vehicle is less than that of the vehicle which it replaces, then the Commissioners or their designated agent are authorized to refund to the owner of the replacement vehicle an amount equal to the difference between the excise tax paid on the defective vehicle and the excise tax paid on the replacement vehicle. (As amended Dec. 4, 1967, Pub. L. 90–172, § 1, 81 Stat. 532; Oct. 31, 1969, Pub. L. 91–106, titles II, IV, §§ 201, 404, 83 Stat. 172, 174; Dec. 12, 1969, Pub. Excessive penalties in indigent cases

Where maximum penalty for jaywalking was fine of $300 or imprisonment of 10 days or both and indigent defendant received a sentence of a fine of $150 or 60 days' imprisonment, imprisonment was 50 days in excess of maximum which could have been imposed. C. F. Sawyer v. District of Columbia (D.C. App. 1968, 238 A. 2d 314).

Where defendant is indigent, sentence of imprisonment in default of payment of fine which exceeds maximum term of imprisonment which could be imposed under substantive statute as original sentence is an invalid exercise of court's discretion. Id.

SECTION REFERRED TO IN OTHER SECTIONS

This section is referred to in sections 25–127, 40–612, 47–2331.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Collateral estoppel

Since the defendant who had been acquitted on charges of reckless driving, speeding, and driving motor vehicle after his permit had been suspended failed to present defense of collateral estoppel to trial court hearing prosecution for unauthorized use of motor vehicle, the reviewing court would not consider claim. R. Mahoney v. United States (1969, 420 F. 2d 253, 137 U.S. App. D.C. 3).

§ 40–606. Negligent homicide.

Any person who, by the operation of any vehicle at an immoderate rate of speed or in a careless, reckless, or negligent manner, but not wilfully or wantonly, shall cause the death of another, shall be guilty of a misdeameanor, and shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year or by a fine of not more than $1,000 or both. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 802(a), as added June 17, 1935, 49 Stat. 385, ch. 266, and amended June 25, 1936, 49 Stat. 1921, ch. 804; Apr. 1, 1942, 56 Stat. 190, ch. 207, § 1; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. AMENDMENT

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1970 AMENDMENT

See note preceding section 11–101.

SECTION REFERRED TO IN OTHER SECTIONS

This section is referred to in sections 40–608, 40–609a.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Causal connection

In a prosecution for negligent homicide, causal connection between injuries received in an automobile accident by decedent and his death must be proven beyond a reasonable doubt. S. J. Stevens v. United States (D.C. App. 1969, 249 A. 2d 514).

Evidence that decedent who died of a coronary occlusion five weeks after the automobile accident and was debilitated by the injuries sustained in the accident and that it was possible that state of debility precipitated the heart attack was insufficient to establish causal connection between injuries sustained in the accident and death and did not support a conviction for negligent homicide. Id.

Criticism of defense counsel

Unjustified criticizing of defense counsel for being unfair to government witness, taking over examination of four defense witnesses, consuming with two of them considerable time on extraneous matters placing them in bad light, and rebuking defense counsel for unfair questions or tactics and stopping him in course of examination and making belittling or sardonic remarks required new trial on charge of negligent homicide. A. C. Williams v. United States (D.C. App. 1967, 228 A. 2d 846).

Dismissal with prejudice

Absent any notation on record or oral statement by judge in prior prosecution for negligent homicide that he was dismissing case with prejudice, trial court's conclusion in dismissing second case against defendant for negligent homicide that the prior dismissal has been on speedy trial grounds and was intended to be dismissed with prejudice was not warranted. United States v. W. J. Young (D.C. App. 1968, 237 A. 2d 542).

Elements of proof required by government

In a prosecution for negligent homicide, government must prove three elements: (1) death of human being, (2) by instrumentality of motor vehicle, (3) operated at an immoderate rate of speed or in a careless, reckless, or negligent manner, but not wilfully or wantonly. S. J. Stevens v. United States (D.C. App. 1969, 249 A. 2d 514).

Speedy trial

Where government took approximately two months to reinstate charge against defendant for negligent homicide after first charge had been dismissed and case did not come for trial, due to delays wholly attributable to government, for seven and one-half months after date of accident and defendant, a taxicab driver, has his license revoked until disposition of charge against him, defendant has been prejudiced by the delay and had been denied speedy trial. United States v. W. J. Young (D.C. App. 1968, 237 A. 2d 542).

§ 40–607. Negligent homicide included in manslaughter where death due to operation of vehicle.

This section is referred to in sections 25–127, 40–609a, 40–612, 47–2331.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Evidence—sufficiency

Evidence was ample to support the jury's finding that defendant was operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. R. B. Kelly v. District of Columbia (D.C. App. 1967, 233 A. 2d 503).

Urine specimen—Admissibility as evidence

Questioning by an officer of a defendant, who was charged with driving while under influence of intoxicating liquor and who was upset and sobbing and who was told that he did not have to take urine test but that if he did not it would be his word against the policeman's, but who was not physically abused, was not conduct which was so outrageous as to require exclusion of results of urine test. J. E. Davis v. District of Columbia (D.C. App. 1968, 247 A. 2d 417).

Urine specimen is admissible at the trial for driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor despite absence of medical supervision at time of taking of test. Id.

Evidence was sufficient to support trial court's finding that defendant charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor voluntarily gave urine specimen admitted at trial though officer had used considerable powers of persuasion to obtain the specimen. Id.

§ 40–609a. Operating of vehicles while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and in violation of other laws—Prima facie evidence of intoxication—Relevant evidence of use of intoxicating liquor—Results of tests available to tested person—Blood test—Only physician at request of police may withdraw blood—Tested person may have private physician make added test—Test not compulsory.

Bus tours on Capitol Mall

A certificate of convenience and necessity is not required of a concessionaire under contract with Secretary of Interior to conduct bus tours of Capitol Mall from Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Commission. Universal Interpretive Shuttle Corporation v. Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Commission et al. (1968, 89 S. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Unrecorded conditional sales contract

An unrecorded conditional sales contract is valid against all except third persons acquiring title [purchasers for value] without notice, and it has long been settled that prior mortgagees, in whose stead trustees stand, are not, nor do they occupy position of third parties, since they are in no sense purchasers who have given value for property acquired subsequent to their mortgage. The Hobart Mfg. Co. v. A. Vozeolas and J. Hillman (D.C. App. 1969, 255 A. 2d 502).

In a case where a conditional seller of a bakery mixer took in trade a mixer which had been secured by a chattel deed of trust but did not record the conditional sale, and after the buyer had defaulted in payment to seller of original mixer the trustees contacted an auctioneer to inventory the property and to publicly advertise the auction, and though inventory was taken the discrepancy in serial numbers of mixer was not detected, and new mixer was sold and proceeds remitted to secured parties, the trustees, as parties to conversion of conditional seller's mixer, could be sued for its value, however, since the value of the mixer exceeded the unpaid balance of conditional sales contract, conditional seller was entitled to recover only the amount due under its contract. Id.

§ 43–301. Public utilities — Service and facilities — Charges to be reasonable, just, and nondiscriminatory—To obey orders of Commission.

SECTION REFERRED TO IN OTHER SECTIONS

This section is referred to in section 46–303.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Service, defined

"Yellow Pages" advertising, was not a public utility "service" or "facility" within statute providing that every public utility doing business within the District of Columbia is required to furnish service and facilities in all respects just and reasonable, and hence the public service commission lacked jurisdiction to regulate the rates and practices of telephone company with respect to its yellow pages classified telephone directory. The Classified Directory Subscribers Association v. Public Service Commission of the District of Columbia (1967, 383 F. 2d 510, 127 U.S. App. D.C. 315).

Not all services offered by a public utility are regulable under statute providing that every public utility doing business within the District of Columbia is required to furnish service and facilities in all respects just and reasonable. Id.

§ 43–303. Commission to compel compliance with chapters 1–10 of this title, with laws, ordinances, and charter—Criminal liability continued.

SECTION REFERRED TO IN OTHER SECTIONS

This section is referred to in section 43–326.

§ 43–329. Utility not to receive greater or less compensation than fixed in schedule.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Tenants committee

Since substandard units had different utility equipment, rented at different prices, and had varying number of occupants, and there was no recognized formula for distributing gas and electrical charges among the users, it is not appropirate for the court to order tenants to organize committee which would enter into contracts with utility companies for continuation of services, in tenant's proceeding for equitable relief directing that utility services be continued after owner refused to honor utility bills. A. Masszonia v. W. E. Washington, Commissioner, et al. (1970, 315 F. Supp. 529).

§ 43–705. Appeal to Court of Appeals from certain orders—Precedence over other civil causes—Proceeding when additional evidence proper—Statement to accompany decision—Commission not liable for costs or damages.

The Dictrict of Columbia Court of Appeals shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine any appeal from an order or decision of the Commission. Any public utility or any other person or corporation affected by any final order or decision of the Commission, other than an order fixing or determining the value of the property of a public utility in a proceeding solely for that purpose, may, within sixty days after final action by the Commission upon the petition for reconsideration, file with the clerk of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals a petition of appeal setting forth the reasons for such appeal and the relief sought; at the same time such appellant shall file with the Commission notice in writing of the appeal together with a copy of the petition. Within twenty days of the receipt of such notice of appeal the Commission shall file with the clerk of the said court the record, including a transcript of all proceedings had and testimony taken before the Commission, duly certified, upon which the said order or decision of the Commission was based, together with a statement of its findings of fact and conclusions upon the said record, and a copy of the application for reconsideration and the orders entered theron: Provided, That the parties, with the consent and approval of the Commission, may stipulate in writing that only certain portions of the record be transcribed and transmitted. Within this period the Commission or any other interested party shall answer, demur, or otherwise move or plead. Thereupon the appeal shall be at issue and ready for hearing. All such proceedings shall have precedence over any civil cause of a different nature pending in said court, and the District of Columbia Court of Appeals shall always be deemed open for the hearing thereof. Any such appeal shall be heard upon the record before the Commission, and no new or additional evidence shall be received by the said court. The said court, or any judge or judges thereof, before whom any such appeal shall be heard, may require and direct the Commission to receive additional evidence upon any subject related to the issues on said appeal concerning which evidence was improperly excluded in the hearing before the Commission or upon which the record may contain no substantial evidence. Upon receipt of such requirement and direction the Commission shall receive such evidence and without unreasonable delay shall transmit to the said court the findings of fact made thereon by the Commission and the conclusions of the Commission upon the said facts.

Upon the conclusion of its hearings of any such appeal the court shall either dismiss the said appeal and affirm the order or decision of the Commission or sustain the appeal and vacate the Commission's order or decision. In either event the court shall accompany its order by a statement of its reasons for its action and in the case of the vacation of an order or decision of the Commission the statement shall relate the particulars in and the extent to which such order or decision was defective.

Said Commission shall not, nor shall any of its members, officers, agents, or employees, be taxed with any costs, nor shall they or any of them be required to give any supersedeas bond or security for costs or damages on any appeal whatsoever. Said Commission, or any of its members, officers, agents, or employees, shall not be liable to suit or action or for any judgment or decree for any damages, loss, or injury claimed by any public utility or person, nor required in any case to make any deposit for costs or pay for any service to the clerks of any court or to the marshal of the United States. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Public interest

Finding that gas rates, embodied in contractual arrangements reached between gas company and apartment and office building owner for supplying steam and chilled water for heating and air-conditioning of building to be constructed, were lawful and not against the public interest as supported by substantial evidence and as not arbitrary or capricious. Association of Fair Competitive Practices In Air Conditioning, Inc. v. Public Service Commission of the District of Columbia, et al. (1967, 372 F. 2d 934, 125 U.S. App. D.C. 361).

Scope of inquiry

District of Columbia Public Service Commission was not, out of issues generated in case respecting approval of rate embodied in contractual arrangements between gas company and owner of apartment and office building for the supplying of steam and chilled water for heating and air-conditioning building, required to range beyond the scope of application before it and to make a wide ranging inquiry into general merchandising practices of gas company with respect to air-conditioning equipment. Association of Fair Competitive Practices In Air Conditioning, Inc. v. Public Service Commission of the District of Columbia, et al. (1967, 372 F. 934, 125 U.S. App. D.C. 361).

All orders and decisions of the Commission shall remain in full effect, except as provided in section 43–704 hereof, unless and until they are suspended, superseded, or rescinded by the Commission or are vacated by lawful order of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals: Provided, That if in any petition made to the said court appealing from an order or decision of the Commission it be alleged that substantial and irreparable property loss would be occasioned to the petitioner by the operation of the said order pending the determination of the said appeal, the court shall set a time and place for hearing upon the said allegation after not less than three days' notice to the Commission (during which period the execution of the order or decision shall be stayed), and the said court may then, upon a clear showing of the irreparable and substantial property loss as alleged, suspend the effective date of the said order. No such suspension shall be for a greater period than sixty days without further order after notice or hearing by the court. In the event of the issuance of an order suspending the operation of any order of the Commission, the court may include therein such provision as it deems advisable for the preservation of records or accounts and the impounding or otherwise securing of moneys necessary to give effect to the order of the Commission in the event the said order is sustained. TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS TO DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA COUNCIL

Section 402(326) of Reorg. Plan No. 3 of 1967, effective November 3, 1967, transferred the regulatory and other functions of the Board of Commissioners, under this section to the District of Columbia Council, subject to the right of the Commissioner as provided by section 406 of the Plan. For provisions establishing the District of Columbia Council, see section 201 of Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1967, set out in the appendix to title 1.

§ 43–1606. Methods of determination of sanitary sewer service charges.

(a) The sanitary sewer service charges established under the authority of this chapter shall be based on the water consumption of, and water service to, the properties served, and be determined by one of the following methods:

(1) Where water is supplied from the District water supply system at meter rates, the Commissioners shall establish the sanitary sewer service charge as a percentage of the water charge applicable in the District.

(2) Where water is supplied from the District water supply system, which water is not measured by meter, but is supplied at special business and miscellaneous rates, the Commissioners shall establish the sanitary sewer service charge at a percentage of such special business and miscellaneous rates.

(3) For each property using water, all or part of which is from a source or sources other than the District water supply system, the Commissioners shall establish a sanitary sewer service charge separate from and in addition to any sanitary sewer service charge levied under paragraph (1) or (2) of this subsection. Such separate or additional sanitary sewer service charge shall be measured by the quantity of water from the source or sources other than the District water supply system discharged into the District sanitary sewer system from said property. The owner or occupant of each such property shall install and maintain, without cost to the District, a meter or meters to measure the quantity of water received from other than the water supply system of the District, and the sanitary sewer service charge based upon water received from other than the water supply system of the District shall be the same in amount as would be paid by the owner of a metered property receiving the same quantity of water from the water supply system of the District. No meter shall be installed or be used for such purpose without the approval of the Commissioners. In the event the owner or occupant of property fails or refuses to furnish and properly maintain such meter or meters as are prescribed herein in the manner required by the Commissioners, then the supply of water from the District water supply system to the property or premises may be suspended by the Commissioners and the said supply shall not be restored until the metering of such supplementary water source has been accomplished by the owner or occupant to the satisfaction of the Commissioners, and any costs devolving upon the District as a result of the suspension of service from the District water supply system shall be paid to the District prior to the restoration of water service from the District water supply system.

(4) Wherever a property upon which a sanitary sewer service charge is imposed uses water from the water supply system of the District for an industrial or commercial purposes in such manner that the water so used is not discharged into the sanitary sewage works of the District, the quantity of water so used and not discharged into the sanitary sewage works of the District may be excluded in determining the sanitary sewer service charge on such property, if such exclusion is previously requested in writing by the owner or occupant thereof. Upon such request, the quantity of water so used and not discharged into the sanitary sewage works of the District shall be measured by a device or devices approved by the Commissioners, installed and maintained without cost to the District, and the sanitary sewer service charge to be imposed on such property shall be the amount which would have been charged such property if the amount of water so used and not discharged into the sanitary sewage works of the District had not been included in the amount of water used by such property: Provided, That all water from the water supply system of the District used by such property shall be paid for at established rates, whether or not such water is discharged into the sanitary sewage works of the District. Where in the opinion of the Commissioners, it is not practicable to install a measuring device to determine continuously the quantity of water used for such industrial or commercial purposes and not discharged into the sanitary sewage works of the District, the Commissioners shall determine periodically, in such manner and by such methods as the Commissioners may prescribe, the quantity of water from the water supply system of the District discharged into the sanitary sewage works of the District, and the sanitary sewer service charge shall be based on such estimated quantity of water at the percentage authorized by this paragraph. Any dispute as to such estimated amount shall be decided by the Commissioners and such decision shall be final; and in the event the owner or occupant fails to furnish and maintain such measuring devices or to facilitate the periodic determinations by the Commissioners as prescribed herein, then the privilege of excluding some portion of the water used from the District water supply system from the charges for sanitary sewer service shall be forfeited and the charges for sanitary sewer service shall be based on the full amount of the water used from the District water supply system.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a), the District of Columbia Council is authorized, in its discretion, from time to time to establish one or more sanitary sewer service charges at such amount as the Council, on the basis of a recommendation made by the Commissioner, finds it necessary to meet the expense to the District of furnishing sanitary sewer services, including debt retirement. (May 18, 1954, 68 Stat. 106, ch. 218, title II, § 207; Mar. 2, 1962, 76 Stat. 18, Pub. L. 87–408, § 502; Jan. 5, 1971, Pub. L. 91–650, title I, § 105(b), 84 Stat. 1931.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Applicability to automobile rental agencies

Sections 44–301 et seq., governing liability of insurance companies insuring passenger motor vehicles for hire were designed especially to cover taxicabs and other means of public transportation and were not intended to be a general act covering rental of automobiles without drivers. M. J. Ryan III, Administrator etc., et al. v. E. W. Furey, Administrator etc., et al. (Penn. Sup. Ct., 1970, 262 A. 2d 305).

Sections 44–301 et seq., requiring passenger motor vehicles for hire to be insured and governing liability of insurer do not apply to automobile rental agencies. Id.

Automobile rental corporation

The District of Columbia Taxicab Insurance Act which applies to persons who rent passenger motor vehicles "for hire" had no application to corporation which rented automobiles, did not sell a transportation service as such and which prohibited its lessees from using the vehicles rented to them for transportation of persons or property "for hire"; "for hire" is usually a phrase of art and, in the field of transportation, denotes a common or contract carrier. Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company etc. v. New Amsterdam Casualty Company etc. (1967, 376 F. 2d 607, 4th Circuit).

The administrative interpretation of District of Columbia Taxicab Insurance Act that automobile rental corporations are not within the Act is entitled to weight. Id.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Constitutionality

The claim that plaintiff homeowners were deprived of due process of law by District of Columbia statutes authorizing persons holding power of sale under mortgages, deeds of trust and other contracts conveying title to realty to foreclose and sell property by public auction without hearing for homeowner prior to sale was so insubstantial that three-judge court would not be convened in action for injunction restraining enforcement of statutes, since statutes provide that no such foreclosure sale may take place unless holder of note secured by mortgage is given notice 30 days in advance of sale and permit extrajudicial foreclosure only when instrument contains power of sale clause if owner defaults in payments. *J. § 45–611. Appointment of trustee to sell in event of death of mortgagee or trustee.

In case of the death of a sole mortgagee or trustee, or the last survivor of several, if the debt secured by the mortgage or deed of trust shall not have been paid, the party entitled thereto may file a petition in the court having probate jurisdiction, setting forth under oath the execution of the mortgage or deed of trust, the death of the mortgagee or trustee, and the fact that the debt secured by the said mortgage or deed of trust remains unpaid, and such other fact as may be necessary to entitle the petitioner to the relief prayed, and praying for the appointment of a trustee to execute the trusts of the said mortgage or deed of trust. It shall not be necessary to make the heirs at law or devisees of the deceased mortgagee or trustee parties to such proceeding. The court may thereupon lay a rule upon the debtor or parties whose property is bound by said mortgage or deed of trust, unless they shall voluntarily appear and admit the allegations of the petition, to show cause, under oath, on or before the 10th day, exclusive of Sundays and legal holidays, after the service of such rule, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. If said party or parties can not be found in said District, service of said rule shall be by publication, according to the practice in equity in said court. If no cause be shown, notwithstanding the service of said rule, against the prayer of said petition, the court may determine in a summary way whether said debt remains unpaid, and if satisfied thereof the said court may, by decree, appoint a new trustee in the place of the deceased mortgagee or trustee, and vest in him all the title at law and in equity, and all the powers that had been conveyed to and vested in the deceased mortgagee or trustee. Nothing contained in this section shall prevent the appointment of a new trustee pursuant to section 45–614(b) and the execution of the trusts of said deed of trust by such new trustee. § 45–615. Terms of sale and notice to be given.

(a) If the length of notice and terms of sale are not prescribed by the mortgage or deed of trust, or be not left therein to the judgment or discretion of the mortgagee or trustee, any person interested in such sale may apply to the court, before such sale is advertised, to fix the terms of sale and determine what notice of sale shall be given.

(b) No foreclosure sale under a power of sale provision contained in any deed of trust, mortgage or other security instrument, may take place unless the holder of the note secured by such deed of trust, mortgage, or security instrument, or its agent, gives written notice, by certified mail return receipt requested, of said sale to the owner of the real property encumbered by said deed of trust, mortgage or security instrument at his last known address, with a copy of said notice being sent to the Commissioner of the District of Columbia, or his designated agent, at least 30 days in advance of the date of said sale. Said notice shall be in such format and contain such information as the District of Columbia Council shall by regulation prescribe. The 30-day period shall commence to run on the date of receipt of such notice by the Commissioner. The Commissioner or his agent shall give written acknowledgment to the holder of said note, or its agent, on the day that he receives such notice, that such notice has been received, indicating therein the date of receipt of such notice. The notice required by this subsection (b) in regard to said mortgages and deeds of trust shall be in addition to the notice described by subsection (a) of this section. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1274, ch. 854, § 539; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 532, ch. 1329; Oct. 12, 1968, Pub. L. 90–566, § 1, 82 Stat. 1002.)

AMENDMENT

1968—Act, Oct. 12, 1968, Pub. L. 90–566, amended the title of the section to read, "terms of sale and notice to be given"; inserted (a) at the beginning of the original section and added subsection (b) thereto.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Constitutionality

The claim that plaintiff homeowners were deprived of due process of law by District of Columbia statutes authorizing persons holding power of sale under mortgages, deeds of trust and other contracts conveying title to realty to foreclose and sell property by public auction without hearing for homeowner prior to sale was so insubstantial that three-judge court would not be convened in action for injunction restraining enforcement of statutes, since statutes provide that no such foreclosure sale may take place unless holder of note secured by mortgage is given notice 30 days in advance of sale and permit extrajudicial foreclosure only when instrument contains power of sale clause if owner defaults in payments. J. H. Young et ano. v. P. S. Ridley et al. (1970, 309 F. Supp. 1308).

§ 45–619. Release after death of mortgagee or trustee.

In case of the death of a sole mortgagee or trustee or the last survivor of several, as aforesaid, if the debt secured by the mortgage or deed of trust shall have been paid, and it is desired by the party paying the same to obtain a deed of release, the said party may file a petition in the court having probate jurisdiction, setting forth, under oath, the execution of said mortgage or deed of trust, the death of the mortgagee or trustee, the payment of the debt, and any other fact necessary to entitle the petitioner to the relief prayed, and praying for the appointment of a trustee in the place of the deceased mortgagee or trustee to execute a deed of release of said mortgage or deed of trust. It shall not be necessary to make the heirs or devises of the deceased mortgagee or trustee a party to such proceeding. The court may thereupon lay a rule upon the creditor secured by said mortgage or deed of trust, unless he shall voluntarily appear and admit the allegations of the petition, to show cause, under oath, on or before the 10th day, exclusive of Sundays and legal holidays, after the service of said rule, why the prayer of the petition should not be granted. If said party can not be found in said District, service of said rule shall be by publication according to the practice in equity in said court. If no cause be shown, notwithstanding the service of said rule, against the prayer of the petition, the court may determine in a summary way whether said debt has been paid, and if satisfied thereof may, by decree, appoint a trustee in the place of the deceased mortgagee or trustee and invest in him the title, in law and in equity, that was in the deceased mortgagee or trustee, for the purpose of executing a deed of release as aforesaid. If matter of defense against the prayer for a release of said mortgage or deed of trust be set up in answer to said rule, the further proceedings shall be according to the practice in equity after answer filed. Nothing contained in this section shall prevent the appointment of a new trustee pursuant to section 45–614(b) and the execution of a deed of release by such new trustee. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1273, ch. 854, § 537; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 532, ch. 1329; June 25, 1936, 49 Stat. 1921, ch. 804; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127; Nov. 2, 1966, 80 Stat. 1100, Pub. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Parent and trustees

District of Columbia deed recordation tax exemption which is provided for deeds between parent and child made without consideration also applies to a conveyance of real property made by parents to trustees under a trust they established for benefit of their children. District of Columbia v. J. Orleans, Trustee, et al. (1968, 406 F. 2d 957, 132 U.S. App. D.C. 139).

The fact that children might die prior to termination of trust involving a deed for benefit of the children and property would go to heirs of the child rather than donors' children would not prevent exemption from District of Columbia deed recordation tax in the absence of regulation or administrative policy formulating approach to definition and valuation that would be involved in taxation of contingent interests. Id.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Grounds for eviction

In this case, the court held that where landlord gives tenants, who had verbally leased property by the month, statutory 30 days' notice to vacate, the landlord is entitled to judgment of possession, notwithstanding that reason for notice may have been tenants' refusal to enter into written lease containing waiver of right to statutory notice to quit in event of certain breaches. V. Wilson et al. v. J. R. Pinkett, Inc. (D.C. App. 1970, 265 A. 2d 778).

Renewal of lease

In this case, the court held that since the tenant remained in possession and paid increased rent required by option for additional term after initial term had expired, the tenant affirmatively indicated his intent to exercise the option and did not hold over only as a tenant by sufferance. *P. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Grounds for eviction

It was the intent of Congress, which directed enactment of District of Columbia housing code, that, while landlord might evict for any legal reason or for no reason at all, he was not free to evict tenant in retaliation for tenant's report of housing code violations to the authorities. Y. C. Edwards v. N. Habib (1968, 397 F. 2d 687, 130 U.S. App. D.C. 126; cert. denied 89 S. Ct. 618, 393 U.S. 1016, 21 L. Ed. 2d 560).

Landlord's motivation for termination of tenancy

Tenant's constitutional rights to freedom of speech and to petition for redress of grievances were not violated by landlord's eviction of tenant through court action, notwithstanding fact that landlord may have been motivated to evict in retaliation for tenant's justified complaints to housing authority about condition of premises. Y. C. Edwards v. N. Habib (D.C. App. 1967, 227 A. 2d 388, rev'd and remanded 397 F. 2d 687).

Thirty days' notice to quit given by landlord to month-to-month tenant was sufficient to terminate tenancy under statute, notwithstanding fact that landlord may have been motivated to give notice in retaliation for tenant's justified complaints to housing authority about condition of premises. Id.

Violations of regulations

In this case, the court held that the fact that there had been Housing Code violations, under process of being corrected, in tenant's apartment at time she executed lease does not render lease invalid. C. M. Watson v. S. Kotler (D.C. App. 1970, 264 A. 2d 141).

In this case the jury found that substantial violations of the housing regulations existed on premises at time lease was signed, and that such violations were sufficient to render premises unsafe and unsanitary, and landlord knew or should have known of such violations, and the court held lease was void and unenforceable, though landlord had not received official notice of existence of violations from city housing inspectors. Diamond Housing Corp. v. L. Robinson (D.C. App. 1969, 257 A. 2d 492).

§ 45–903. Tenancy at will—Notice for termination.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Status of person in possession of foreclosed property

Where real property is sold under foreclosure of a deed of trust, grantor of deed of trust, or anyone in possession claiming under him, becomes tenant at will of purchaser at foreclosure and is entitled to 30 days' notice to quit. T. G. Thompson v. S. Mazo (D.C. App. 1968, 245 A. 2d 122).

§ 45–904. Tenancy by sufferance—When terminated.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Notice generally

In a case where a tenant at sufferance vacated premises on August 27 without giving landlord 30-day notice of his intention to quit, tenant was liable for rent only for 30 days subsequent to vacating. A. Willis v. Retail Adjustment Bureau, Inc., etc. (D.C. App. 1969, 248 A. 2d 823).

A tenant at sufferance who vacated without the giving required 30-day notice is liable for rent for 30 days during which notice would have run. Id.

Retaliatory defense

In this case a tenant, who had been successful in having lease declared void and unenforceable in prior action because property was unsafe and uninhabitable and who was being evicted after expiration of 30 days' notice because landlord wished to withdraw property from rental market, would not be permitted to raise defense that landlord's action for recovery of possession was retaliatory. L. Robinson v. Diamond Housing Corporation (D.C. App. 1970, 267 A. 2d 833).

Sufficiency of record on appeal

In a case where the landlord's assignee did not file a brief in the tenant's appeal from judgment for unpaid rent, there was no statement of proceedings and evidence in the record and trial court did not certify that the tenant's recital of the facts was correct, reviewing court would remand case for trial on tenant's claim that landlord's assignee was estopped to assert a right to rent because of oral waiver by landlord-assignor of 30-day notice of intention to quit. A. Willis v. Retail Adjustment Bureau, Inc., etc. (D.C. App. 1969, 248 A. 2d 823).

Summary judgment

In this case the court held that since the landlord of housing, which had been determined to be unsafe and uninhabitable in violation of housing regulations, served a 30 days' notice upon tenant at sufferance and then brought action to recover possession upon her failure to quit so that he could withdraw property from rental market, it was unreasonable to permit the tenant to remain in unsafe and uninhabitable housing, and in absence of opposing affidavits by the tenant, granting of landlord's motion for summary judgment was proper. L. Robinson v. Diamond Housing Corporation (D.C. App. 1970, 267 A. 2d 833).

Use and occupation

Although a former tenant is entitled to restitution of rent paid under a void lease, the landlord is entitled to the reasonable value of the premises in the condition existing when occupied by the tenant and is entitled to setoff. William J. Davis, Inc., et ano. v. C. Slade (D.C. App. 1970, 271 A. 2d 412).

§ 45–905. Notice not to be recalled.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Grounds for eviction

In this case, the court held that where landlord gives tenants, who had verbally leased property by the month, statutory 30 days' notice to vacate, the landlord is entitled to judgment of possession, notwithstanding that reason for notice may have been tenants' refusal to enter into written lease containing waiver of right to statutory notice to quit in event of certain breaches. V. Wilson et al. v. J. R. Pinkett, Inc. (D.C. App. 1970, 265 A. 2d 778).

§ 45–908. Agreement as to notice.

§ 45–909. Recovery of real and personal property leased together.

Whenever real and personal property are leased together, as, for example, a house with furniture contained therein, the landlord, either in an action of ejectment or in the summary proceeding for possession, in the Superior Court of the District of Columbia, may have a judgment for recovery of the personalty as well as the realty. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1384, ch. 854, § 1235; Feb. 17, 1909, 35 Stat. 623, ch. 134; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60, § 1; July 29, 1970, Pub. L. 91–358, title I, § 167(1), 84 Stat. 588.)

§ 45–910. Ejectment or summary proceedings.

Whenever a lease for any definite term shall expire, or any tenancy shall be terminated by notice as aforesaid, and the tenant shall fail or refuse to surrender possession of the leased premises, the landlord may bring an action of ejectment to recover possession in the Superior Court of the District of Columbia. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1382, ch. 854, § 1225; Feb. 17, 1909, 35 Stat. 623, ch. 134, June 25, 1936, 49 Stat. 1921, ch. 804; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. Section 167(2) of Act July 29, 1970, Public Law 91–358 amended section by striking out "or the landlord may bring an action to recover possession before a justice of the peace, as provided in chapter one, subchapter one, aforesaid".

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Grounds for eviction

It was the intent of Congress, which directed enactment of the District of Columbia housing code, that, while landlord might evict for any legal reason or for no reason at all, he was not free to evict tenant in retaliation for tenant's report of housing code violations to the authorities. *Y. Preliminary injunction

In this case where numerous other remedies were available to landlord, grant of preliminary injunction was improper prohibiting tenants, who claimed that buildings were in violation of housing code, from paying rent to third party and which directed rentals deposited to be paid into court for delivery to landlord even though landlord was in financial difficulty, was in default on trust payments, and was without other available funds. R. Dorfmann, et al., etc. v. R. B. Boozer, et al. (1969, 414 F. 2d 1168, 134 U.S. App. D.C. 272).

§ 45–911. Arrears of rent and double rent.

In either case the landlord may join with his claim for recovery of the possession of the leased premises a claim for all arrears of rent accrued to the termination of the tenancy, and, when the tenant has given the notice, for double rent from the termination of the tenancy to the verdict, or judgment, if the trial be by the court and for damages for waste: Provided, That in such action before the Superior Court of the District of Columbia the amount so claimed shall be within its jurisdiction. If judgment for possession be rendered in favor of the plaintiff, he shall be entitled, at the same time, to a judgment for said arrears of rent, and for said double rent, as the case may be, to the date of the verdict or judgment as aforesaid, and for damages for waste. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1382, ch. 854, § 1226; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 542, ch. 1329; Feb. 17, 1909, 35 Stat. 623, ch. 134; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60, § 1; July 29, 1970, Pub. § 45–1401. Acting as broker or salesman without license unlawful.

SECTION REFERRED TO IN OTHER SECTIONS

This section is referred to in section 45–1409.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Construction

Action by assignee of broker to collect unpaid rent from lessee, who had vacated premises and had terminated its relationship with broker, falls within statute making it unlawful for any corporation to act as a real estate broker without first securing a license and prohibiting any corporation engaged in real estate activities from bringing a suit based on such activities unless it has acquired a real estate license, and unlicensed assignee, an independent collection agency working on a collection fee basis, is precluded from bringing action for unpaid rent. R. Harrison v. J. H. Marshall & Associates, Inc. (D.C. App. 1970, 271 A. 2d 404.)

Permitting others to use broker's license

It was proper to revoke a real estate broker's license who agreed to lend use of her license to a company for $50 per month plus $25 for each real estate transaction consummated, and who seldom visited company office and exercised no supervision over salemen, one of whom testified that broker knew the salesmen were using her broker's license in arranging and negotiating mortgage loans. C. T. Cardoza v. Real Estate Commission etc. (D.C. App. 1969, 248 A. 2d 815).

A real estate broker's ignorance, who had agreed to lend use of license to company, as to the unlawful conduct of a salesman was no excuse since she in effect blindfolded herself and failed to inquire about significant happenings in the office. Id.

Property outside the District

A person employed as a real estate salesman of the officer-broker of mortgage company which was a District of Columbia corporation and who contracted in the District of Columbia with a salesman for the same company to negotiate a loan on Virginia real estate owned by a District of Columbia resident and who paid such person a commission was acting as a District of Columbia broker without a license in violation of statute. *J. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Failure to file new bond

Evidence supported finding that real estate broker, after cancellation of bond, failed to file new bond within time period specified by real estate commission; accordingly, since broker had been notified that unless new bond was filed within period license would terminate, termination was not illegal. *Carl O. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Construction

This section providing inter alia, that Real Estate Commission has power to suspend license where licensee demonstrates such unworthiness or incompetency to act as a real estate broker as to endanger the interest of the public is not void for vagueness. E. L. Greene v. Real Estate Commission of the Dist. of Col. (D.C. App. 1970, 263 A. 2d 634).

Issues not raised in lower court

Where defendant in real estate broker's action to recover commission did not raise issue in trial court of legality of oral listing of property with broker for sale, the Court of Appeals would not consider the issue. H. P. Miller v. J. Avirom (1967, 384 F. 2d 319, 127 U.S. App. D.C. 367).

Defendant's secondary reliance on statute of frauds in real estate broker's action to recover commission did not encompass issue of legality of oral listing with broker of property for sale and Court of Appeals could not consider the issue on appeal. Id.

Permitting others to use broker's license

It was proper to revoke a real estate broker's license who agreed to lend use of her license to a company for $50 per month plus $25 for each real estate transaction consummated, and who seldom visited company office and exercised no supervision over salesmen, one of whom testified that broker knew the salesmen were using her broker's license in arranging and negotiating mortgage loans. *C. § 45–1409. Hearing before suspension—Court review—Appeal.

The Commission shall, before denying an application for license, or before suspending or revoking any license, set the matter down for a public hearing, and at least ten days prior to the date set for the hearing it shall notify the applicant or licensee in writing of any charges made and shall afford said applicant or licensee an opportunity to be heard in person or by counsel in reference thereto. Such written notice may be served by delivery of same personally to the applicant or licensee or by mailing same by registered mail or by certified mail to the last-known business address of such applicant or licensee. If said applicant or licensee be a salesman the Commission shall also notify the broker employing him, or whose employ he is about to enter, by mailing notice by registered mail or by certified mail to the broker's last-known address. The hearing on such charges shall be at such time and place as the Commission shall prescribe. The Commission shall have the power to issue subpenas or take testimony of any person by deposition in the same manner as prescribed by law in judicial procedure in the Superior Court of the District of Columbia in civil cases. It shall also have the power to require the production of books, records, papers, and documents by subpena or otherwise. Any party to any hearing before the Commission shall have the right to the attendance of witnesses in his behalf at such hearing upon making request therefor to the Commission and designating the person or persons sought to be subpenaed. If the Commission shall determine that any applicant is not qualified to receive a license, a license shall not be granted to said applicant, and if the Commission shall determine that any licensee is guilty of a violation of any of the provisions of §§ 45–1401 to 45–1418 this chapter, his or its licenses shall be suspended or revoked.

A final decision or determination of the Commission denying, suspending, or revoking a license may be reviewed in the District of Columba Court of Appeals in the manner provided by the District of Columbia Administrative Procedure Act (D.C. Code, secs. 1–1501 to 1–1510).

Any party to the proceedings desiring it shall be furnished with a copy of such stenographic notes, upon the payment to the Commission of such reasonable fee as it shall, by general rule or regulation, prescribe. NOTES TO DECISIONS

In an appeal by a real estate broker from a decision of the Real Estate Commission in suspending his license for 15 days, the court held the Real Estate Commission could properly conclude upon its findings that broker's careless and callous failure to inform his client of reasons for difficulty in repaying deposit, of which he was a trustee, constituted such incompetence and untrustworthy conduct as to endanger the public interest. E. L. Greene v. Real Estate Commission of the Dist. of Col. (D.C. App. 1970, 263 A. 2d 634).

(a) The Administrator may make such studies and investigations, and obtain or require the furnishing of such information under oath or affirmation or otherwise, as he deems necessary or proper to assist him in prescribing any regulation or order under this chapter, or in the administration and enforcement of this chapter, and regulations and orders thereunder. For such purposes the Administrator may administer oaths and affirmations; may require, by subpena or otherwise, the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of documents at any designated place; may require persons to permit the inspection and copying of documents, and the inspection of housing accommodations; and may, by regulation or order, require the making and keeping of records and other documents. § 45–1610. Enforcement—Penalties.

(a) If any landlord receives rent or refuses to render services in violation of any provision of this chapter, or of any regulation or order thereunder prescribing a rent ceiling or service standard, the tenant paying such rent or entitled to such service, or the Administrator on behalf of such tenant, may bring suit to rescind the lease or rental agreement, or, in case of violation of a maximum-rent ceiling, an action for double the amount by which the rent paid exceeded the applicable rent ceiling and, in case of violation of a minimum-service standard, an action for double the value of the services refused in violation of the applicable minimum-service standard or for $50, whichever is greater in either case, plus reasonable attorneys' fees and costs as determined by the court. Any suit or action under this subsection may be brought in the Superior Court of the District of Columbia regardless of the amount involved, and the Superior Court of the District of Columbia is hereby given exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine all such cases.

(b) No person shall be held liable for damages or penalties in any court on any grounds for or in respect of anything done or omitted to be done in good faith pursuant to any provision of this chapter or any regulation, order, or requirement thereunder, notwithstanding that subsequently such provision, regulation, order, or requirement may be modified, rescinded, or determined to be invalid. The Administrator may intervene in any suit or action wherein a party relies for ground of relief or defense upon this chapter or any regulation, order, or requirement thereunder. No costs shall be assessed against the Administrator in any proceedings had or taken in accordance with this chapter.

(c) Whenever in the judgment of the Administrator any person has engaged or is about to engage in any acts or practices which constitute or will constitute a violation of this chapter, or any regulation, order, or requirement thereunder, he may make application to the Superior Court of the District of Columbia for an order enforcing compliance with this chapter or such regulation, order, or requirement, and upon a proper showing a permanent or temporary injunction, restraining order, or other order, shall be granted without bond. NOTES TO DECISIONS

The District of Columbia Minimum Wage Act [§ 36–401 et seq.] was intended to cover wages and hours of individuals working in transportation field solely within the District of Columbia, but does not apply to bus drivers who were engaged in interstate commerce, spending on the average 37.6 percent of working time in the District. K. C. Williams et al. v. W. M. A. Transit Company (D.C. App. 1970, 268 A. 2d 261.)

The purpose of Congress in enacting 1962 amendment to District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Act, was to deny exemption from the act to scientific, literary or educational entities but to continue exemption to those which had been organized and operated exclusively for religious or charitable purposes. Greater Southeast Community Hospital Foundation Inc., etc. v. District Unemployment Compensation Board (1969, 407 F. 2d 712, 132 U.S. App. D.C. 249).

Due process

Discriminatory classification of employees, created by Congress' legitimate interest in exempting charitable organizations from payment of unemployment taxes, by denying benefits to employees of exempt organizations, is reasonable and does not violate due process. T. F. Von Stauffenberg v. District Unemployment Compensation Board (D.C. App. 1970, 269 A. 2d 110).

Evaluation of exemption application

In a case where the hospital's application for exemption from the District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Act had not been evaluated under criteria ascertainable on the record before the Court of Appeals, the Court of Appeals remanded case to district court to the end that it be returned to the compensation board for a re-evaluation of its determination in light of court's opinion. Greater Southeast Community Hospital Foundation Inc., etc. v. District Unemployment Compensation Board (1969, 407 F. 2d 712, 132 U.S. App. D.C. 249).

* * * * *

(c) FUTURE RATES BASED ON BENEFIT EXPERIENCE.—

* * * * *

(10) At least one month prior to the final date upon which the first contributions for any calendar year or part thereof become due from any employer at a contribution rate determined under this subsection, the Board shall notify such employer of his rate of contributions and of the benefit charges upon which such rate was based. Such determination shall become conclusive and binding upon the employer unless, within thirty days after the mailing of notice thereof to his last-known address, or in the absence of mailing, within thirty days after the delivery of such notice, the employer files an application for review and a redetermination, setting forth his reasons therefor. Upon receipt of such application, the Board shall voluntarily adjust such matter or shall grant an opportunity for a fair hearing and promptly notify the employer thereof. All such hearings shall be held before a Contribution Rate Review Committee composed of three members who shall be employees of the Board and appointed by the Board. The findings and decision of this Committee shall not be subject to review by the District Auditor. No employer shall have standing, in any proceeding involving his rate of contributions or contribution liability, to contest the chargeability of his account of any benefits paid in accordance with a determination, redetermination, or decision pursuant to section 46–311, except on the ground that the services on the basis of which such benefits were found to be chargeable do not constitute services performed in employment for him and only in the event that he was not a party to such determination, redetermination, or decision or to any other proceedings under this chapter in which the character of such services was determined. The employer shall be promptly notified of the Board's denial or his application or of the Board's redetermination, both of which shall become final unless, within thirty days after the mailing of such notice thereof to his last-known address, or in the absence of mailing, within thirty days after the delivery of such notice, a petition for judicial review is filed in the Superior Court of the District of Columbia. In any proceedings under this subsection the findings of the Board as to the facts, if supported by evidence and in the absence of fraud, shall be conclusive and the jurisdiction of said court shall be confined to questions of law. Such proceedings shall be given precedence over all other civil cases except cases arising under section 46–312 and under section 36–501.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Notice to base period employers

Under section of Unemployment Compensation Act that claimant and other parties to proceedings shall be promptly notified of initial determination with respect to whether or not benefits may be payable, notice to all "base period employers" is required. District Unemployment Compensation Board v. W. Hahn & Co., Inc. (1968, 399 F. 2d 987, 130 U.S. App. D.C. 254).

Under section of Unemployment Compensation Act providing that if disqualification of claimant of benefits has been alleged or may exist benefits shall not be paid prior to expiration of period for appeal, there must be some opportunity to challenge claimant's eligibility before payments are made. Id.

§ 46–304. Method of paying employer contributions.

* * * * *

(e) If any employer liable to pay the contribution or tax imposed by section 46–303 neglects and refuses to pay the same after demand, the amount (including any interest) shall be a lien upon all of the property and rights to property, whether real or personal belonging to such person. Such lien shall not be valid as against any mortgagee, pledgee, purchaser, or judgment creditor until notice thereof has been filed by the Board with the Recorder of Deeds of the District of Columbia. The Board may cause a civil action to be filed in the Superior Court of the District of Columbia to enforce the aforesaid lien by sale of any property or rights to property, whether real or personal, of the delinquent employer affected by said lien. All persons having liens upon or claiming any interst in the property or rights to property sought to be sold, as aforesaid, shall be made parties to the proceedings and brought into court. The court shall proceed to adjudicate all matters involved therein and finally determine the merits of all claims to a lien upon the property and rights to the property in question, and in all cases where a claim or interest of the Board therein is established, may decree a sale of such property and rights of property by the proper officer of the court, and any sale made pursuant to such proceedings shall be made subject to any and all valid liens existing against said property or rights to property, at the date of filing of the notice of lien. Such action shall be heard by the court at the earliest possible date, and shall be entitled to preference on the calendar of the court over all other civil actions except petitions for judicial review of this chapter. In any suit to enforce a lien hereunder the owner of the property or rights of property affected by said lien may be allowed to file with the clerk of the Superior Court of the District of Columbia a written undertaking with two or more sureties to be approved by the court, or with corporate surety approved by the court, to the effect that he and they will pay the judgment that may be recovered and costs which judgment shall be rendered against all the persons so undertaking. Upon the approval of said undertaking the property or rights of property shall be released from such lien. No such undertaking shall be approved by the court until the owner of the property or rights of property in question shall have given at least two days' notice to the Board of his intention to apply to the courts therefor. Each notice shall give the names and residences of the persons intended to be offered as sureties and the time when the motion for such approval will be made, and such sureties shall make oath if required that they are worth over and above all debts and liabilities double the amount of said lien. The Board may appear and object to such approval. When corporate surety is offered and the undertaking bears a certificate of the clerk of the Superior Court of the District of Columbia that said corporation holds authority from the Secretary of the Treasury to do business in the District of Columbia and has a process agent therein, no notice shall be required. Such an undertaking as above mentioned may be offered before any suit is brought in order to discharge the property from such lien, in which case notice shall be given as aforesaid to the Board and the same proceedings shall be had as above directed in relation to the undertaking to be given after the commencement of the suit, except that when the surety is a corporation and the undertaking bears a certificate of the clerk of said Superior Court of the District of Columbia that said corporation holds authority from the Secretary of the Treasury to do business in the District of Columbia, and has a process agent therein, no notice shall be required; and said undertaking shall be to the effect that the owner of said property or rights of property and his said sureties will pay any judgment that may be rendered in any suit that may thereafter be brought for the enforcement of said lien. If such undertaking be approved before any suit is brought, the surety or sureties may be made parties to such suit; if the undertaking be approved after suit is brought, the surety or sureties shall ipso facto become parties to the suit, and in either case the decree of the court shall be against the surety or sureties as well as the owner. Subject to such regulations as the Board may prescribe, the Board shall issue a certificate of release of the lien if the Board finds that the liability for the amount of the contribution or tax imposed, together with all interest in respect thereof, has been satisfied or for any other reason deemed proper by the Board. Such lien shall continue to be valid for a period of ten years from the date of filing of the notice thereof with the Recorder of Deeds of the District of Columbia, unless the same shall have been released of record, as hereinbefore provided. The foregoing remedy of the Board shall be cumulative and no action taken by the Board shall be or be construed to be an election on the part of the Board to pursue any remedy hereunder to the exclusion of any other remedy for which provision is made in this chapter.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Available for work

In order to be eligible for unemployment benefits claimant must be "available for work" which means that claimant must be genuinely attached to labor market and making adequate contacts for work. Woodward & Lothrop, Inc. v. District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Board et ano. (1968, 392 F. 2d 479, 129 U.S. App. D.C. 155).

Eligibility for benefits

Where unemployment compensation claimant had been classified as (1) a secretary and (2) a bookkeeper, and had base period earnings in excess of $6,000, his rejection of last employer's offer of job as salesman at $1.50 per hour was irrelevant to issue of his initial eligibility for benefits. Woodward & Lothrop, Inc. v. District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Board et ano. (1968, 392 F. 2d 479, 129 U.S. App. D.C. 155).

Evidence of availability

Where only evidence to establish claimant's availability for work was ex parte statements attributed to him, finding by appeals examiner that claimant was entitled to benefits was unsupported by evidence. Woodward & Lothrop, Inc. v. District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Board et ano. (1968, 392 F. 2d 479, 129 U.S. App. D.C. 155).

Ordinarily an applicant's ex parte certificate may permit initial determination of eligibility for compensation benefits, but if appeal is taken and claim is put in issue, claimant may receive benefits only if there is evidence to support finding by Board that applicant is available for work. Id.

In order to support finding that claimant is available for work, claimant must adduce evidence that he has conducted an active search for work. Id.

Policy of Compensation Act

Basic policy underlying Unemployment Compensation Act is preference for compensation through employment rather than welfare compensation. District Unemployment Compensation Board v. W. Hahn & Co., Inc. (1968, 399 F. 2d 987, 130 U.S. App. D.C. 254).

Rules of evidence

Unemployment compensation board is not bound by strict rules of evidence and making of certain presumptions which underlie finding of eligibility may be necessary in order to have prompt determination of claims, but eligibility itself may not be presumed. District Unemployment Compensation Board v. W. Hahn & Co., Inc. (1968, 399 F. 2d 987, 130 U.S. App. D.C. 254).

§ 46–310. Disqualification for benefits.

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS TO DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA COUNCIL

Section 402(348 to 350) of Reorg. Plan No. 3 of 1967, effective November 3, 1967, transferred the regulatory and other functions of the Board of Commissioners, under subsections (a), (c) and (e) with respect to prescribing regulations, as specified in pars. 348 to 350, to the District of Columbia Council, subject to the right of the Commissioner as provided by section 406 of the Plan. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Applicability of Administrative Procedure Act

The District of Columbia Administrative Procedure Act (§ 1–1501 et seq.) applies to proceedings under Unemployment Compensation Act, and should be applied in post-hearing procedure by the Unemployment Compensation Board in an unemployment compensation proceeding. Woodridge Nursery School v. T. G. Jessup and District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Board (D.C. App. 1970, 269 A. 2d 199).

Confidential information

In the case, the court held that a report, which plaintiff's employer filed with the District Unemployment Compensation Board and which stated that plaintiff was "discharged for dishonesty, shortages in cash and stock * * *," was absolutely privileged. G. Goggins v. I. N. Hoddes, t/a etc. (D.C. App. 1970, 265 A. 2d 302).

Policy of Compensation Act

Basic policy underlying Unemployment Compensation Act is preference for compensation through employment rather than welfare compensation. District Unemployment Compensation Board v. W. Hahn & Co., Inc. (1968, 399 F. 2d 987, 130 U.S. App. D.C. 254).

§ 46–311. Determination of claims.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Applicability of Administrative Procedure Act

The District of Columbia Administrative Procedure Act (§ 1–1501 et seq.) applies to proceedings under Unemployment Compensation Act, and should be applied in post-hearing procedure by the Unemployment Compensation Board in an unemployment compensation proceedings. Woodridge Nursery School v. T. G. Jessup and District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Board (D.C. App. 1970, 269 A. 2d 199).

Evidence of availability

Where only evidence to establish claimant's availability for work was ex parte statements attributed to him, finding by appeals examiner that claimant was entitled to benefits was unsupported by evidence. Woodward & Lothrop, Inc. v. District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Board et ano. (1968, 392 F. 2d 479, 129 U.S. App. D.C. 155).

Ordinarily an applicant's ex parte certificate may permit initial determination of eligibility for compensation benefits, but if appeal is taken and claim is put in issue, claimant may receive benefits only if there is evidence to support finding by Board that applicant is available for work. Id.

In order to support finding that claimant is available for work, claimant must adduce evidence that he has conducted an active search for work. Id.

Final decision

In this case, the court held that a two-sentence decision of District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Board, stating that decision of appeals examiner of certain date should be reversed because claimant believed that employer accepted offer to terminate her services on one date rather than on another date, was inadequate as a finding of fact and a conclusion of law. Woodridge Nursery School v. T. G. Jessup and District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Board (D.C. App. 1970, 269 A. 2d 199).

Last known address

Phrase "last known address" within meaning of District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Act that appeal from decision of claims deputy may be taken by claimant within 10 days after notification thereof, or after date such notification was mailed to his "last known address" is not invariably the most recent mailing address of claimant. E. MacKenzie v. D.C. Unemployment Compensation Board (1968, 393 F. 2d 659, 129 U.S. App. D.C. 258).

Where District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Board found claimant eligible for unemployment benefits, and thereafter claims deputy ruled that claimant was not available for work and mailed notice of such determination to temporary address of claimant in St. Paul, Minnesota, instead of to permanent address of claimant in Washington, D.C., and it was know that temporary address had been abandoned, notice was not sufficient to start period for taking an appeal by claimant because not "last known address" within meaning of statute. Id.

Notice of appeal

Even if the Unemployment Compensation Board deemed it unnecessary to permit a reply to petition for appeal in an unemployment compensation proceeding, the other party at least should have been given notice that the appeal had been filed. Woodridge Nursery School v. T. G. Jessup and District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Board (D.C. App. 1970, 269 A. 2d 199).

Notice to base period employers

Under section of Unemployment Compensation Act that claimant and other parties to proceedings shall be promptly notified of initial determination with respect to whether or not benefits may be payable, notice to all "base period employers" is required. District Unemployment Compensation Board v. W. Hahn & Co., Inc. (1968, 399 F. 2d 987, 130 U.S. App. D.C. 254).

Under section of Unemployment Compensation Act providing that if disqualification of claimant of benefits has been alleged or may exist benefits shall not be paid prior to expiration of period for appeal, there must be some opportunity to challenge claimant's eligibility before payments are made. Id.

Rules of evidence

Unemployment compensation board is not bound by strict rules of evidence, and making of certain presumptions which underlie finding of eligibility may be necessary in order to have prompt determination of claims, but eligibility itself may not be presumed. District Unemployment Compensation Board v. W. Hahn & Co., Inc. (1968, 399 F. 2d 987, 130 U.S. App. D.C. 254).

Time to appeal

Where district unemployment compensation board on March 6 sent employer notice stating that former employee had filed claim for unemployment compensation and that eligibility to receive benefits would be decided later, and on March 14 board notified employer that claimant had been paid his first weekly benefit, 10-day period for filing of appeal did not begin to run until March 14, and employer's appeal filed March 23 was timely. District Unemployment Compensation Board v. W. Hahn & Co., Inc. (1968, 399 F. 2d 987, 130 U.S. App. D.C. 254).

§ 46–312. Court review.

Within thirty days after the decision of the Board has become final, any party to the proceeding may appeal from the decision to the Superior Court of the District of Columbia. Upon the filing of any such appeal notice thereof shall be served upon the Board by the appellant and upon any other party to the proceedings. Such appeal shall be heard by the court at the earliest possible date and shall be given precedence over all other civil cases. It shall not be necessary on any such appeal to enter exceptions to the rulings of the Board and no bond shall be required for entering such appeal. In no event shall any appeal act as a supersedeas. In any appeal under this section the findings of the Board, or of the examiner or appeal tribunal, as the case may be, as to the facts, if supported by evidence and in the absence of fraud, shall be conclusive, and the jurisdiction of said court shall be confined to questions of law; Provided, That no appeal shall be permitted under this section by any party who has not first exhausted his administrative remedies as provided by this chapter. A tax sale is not a government taking for which just compensation must be paid under the Constitution after judicial proceedings. Industrial Bank of Washington v. T. J. Sheve et al. (1969, 307 F. Supp. 98).

Judicial sale under Section 47–1011 which permits redemption after passage of two years but before issuance of requested tax deed is an additional method for collecting taxes which does not replace or add to administrative sale procedures. Id.

Where, after due notice of tax delinquency to owner by letter and to all others by publication, the property was sold at a tax sale held in the manner prescribed by District of Columbia statute, holder of deed of trust note on real estate involved did not have a constitutional or statutory right to redeem during the time between end of two-year redemption period and issuance of requested tax deed. Id.

Denial of preliminary injunction

An appeal from a denial of a motion for preliminary injunction by a lienor which sought to enjoin the commissioners of District of Columbia from issuing a tax deed to a purchaser at a tax sale could not be equated with an appeal from a final disposition on the merits, notwithstanding ambiguity of the record as to whether district court had undertaken to decide the substantive question of right of the lienor to redeem prior to actual issuance of a tax deed notwithstanding expiration of the statutory two year redemption period. Industrial Bank of Washington v. *W. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Construction

A tax sale is not a government taking for which just compensation must be paid under the Constitution after judicial proceedings. Industrial Bank of Washington v. T. J. Sheve et al. (1969, 307 F. Supp. 98).

Judicial sale under Section 47–1011 which permits redemption after passage of two years but before issuance of requested tax deed is an additional method for collecting taxes which does not replace or add to administrative sale procedures. Id.

Where, after due notice of tax delinquency to owner by letter and to all others by publication, the property was sold at a tax sale held in the manner prescribed by District of Columbia statute, holder of deed of trust note on real estate involved did not have a constitutional or statutory right to redeem during the time between end of two-year redemption period and issuance of requested tax deed. Id.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Capital assets

Liquidating shares distributed to shareholders and held by them for three days before sale to others are not a capital asset in hands of shareholders and gains on sale of shares cannot be given capital gains treatment. J. H. Verkouteren v. District of Columbia (1970, 433 F. 2d 461, — U.S. App. D.C. —).

Assets demand independent tax treatment, perhaps differing treatment, according to whether they belong to a corporation, ongoing or dissolved, or to its shareholders. Id.

Neither the period a corporation holds distributed property nor the period a stockholder holds his stock in distributing corporation is the criterion in District of Columbia for measuring duration of stockholder's ownership to ascertain whether for him it is a capital asset but it is instead the period the stockholder holds distributed property that is determinative. Id.

Since findings clearly established that good will of an acquired company was a capital asset held more than two years, gain from sale of such capital asset was exempt from franchise tax. A.C.F. Industries, Incorporated v. District of Columbia (1967, 382 F. 2d 463, 127 U.S. App. D.C. 247).

Capital gains

The District of Columbia capital gain exclusion is generous as to taxpayers and public interest argues against enlarging it. J. H. Verkouteren v. District of Columbia (1970, 433 F. 2d 461, — U.S. App. D.C. —).

Constitutionality

The taxation of a liquidating dividend representing earnings realized by a corporation prior to the effective date of first District of Columbia income tax did not violate the due process clause of Fifth Amendment on the theory that imposition of income tax constituted retroactive taxation. American Security and Trust Company, Surviving Trustee etc. v. District of Columbia (1969, 408 F. 2d 1295, 133 U.S. App. D.C. 92).

Dividends

To the extent that a corporation's liquidating shares represent its earned surplus, they are properly considered under this section to be dividends constituting gross income to recipient shareholders. J. H. Verkouteren v. District of Columbia (1970, 433 F. 2d 461, — U.S. App. D.C. —).

Stockholders' gain on the sale of liquidating shares which they had held for three days before sale is stockholders' share of sale price of stock less the cost to them of stock they sold. Id.

The cost of liquidating shares to shareholders who held the shares for three days before sale to others is the amount of dividend attributed to shareholders in regard to the stock equalling earned surplus and shareholders' gain on sale would be determined using that portion as cost. Id.

Pursuant to a section of the District of Columbia Code defining "dividend" as any distribution to stockholders whenever earned by the corporation, distributions of corporate earnings accumulated prior to date of the first District of Columbia income tax are taxable. American Security and Trust Company, Surviving Trustee etc. v. District of Columbia (1969, 408 F. 2d 1295, 133 U.S. App. D.C. 92).

Nontaxable capital gain

A transaction whereby taxpayer, who owned apartment house corporation, sold his stock in the corporation to purchasers who dissolved the corporation and gave taxpayer an installment note secured by a trust deed on the apartment house resulted in nontaxable capital gain, although there might have been different tax consequences had corporation sold real estate and paid liquidating dividend to taxpayer. District of Columbia v. L. Neyman (1969, 417 A. 2d 1140, 135 U.S. App. D.C. 193).

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Capital assets

Liquidating shares distributed to shareholders and held by them for three days before sale to others are not a capital asset in hands of shareholders and gains on sale of shares cannot be given capital gains treatment. J. H. Verkouteren v. District of Columbia (1970, 433 F. 2d 461, — U.S. App. D.C. —).

Assets demand independent tax treatment, perhaps differing treatment, according to whether they belong to a corporation, ongoing or dissolved, or to its shareholders. Id.

Neither the period a corporation holds distributed property nor the period a stockholder holds his stock in distributing corporation is the criterion in District of Columbia for measuring duration of stockholder's ownership to ascertain whether for him it is a capital asset but it is instead the period the stockholder holds distributed property that is determinative. Id.

Since findings clearly established that good will of an acquired company was a capital asset held more than two years, gain from sale of such capital asset was exempt from franchise tax. A.C.F. Industries, Incorporated v. District of Columbia (1967, 382 F. 2d 463, 127 U.S. App. D.C. 247).

Capital gains

Liquidating shares distributed to shareholders and held by them for three days before sale to others are not a capital asset in hands of shareholders and gains on sale of shares cannot be given capital gains treatme t. J. H. Verkouteren v. District of Columbia (1970, 433 F. 2d 461, — U.S. App. D.C. —).

The District of Columbia capital gain exclusion is generous as to taxpayers and public interest argues against enlarging it. Id.

Domicile as a prerequisite to tax liability

District of Columbia Income and Franchise Tax Act did not by its terms subject to tax income earned in the first three months of year by person who was domiciled in another state and then moved to the District in which he became a domicile and resident thereof for the remaining nine months of the year and who paid tax to District on income earned for nine months in which he was a domicile. District of Columbia v. P. S. Davis (1967, 371 F. 2d 964, 125 U.S. App. D.C. 311).

Nontaxable capital gain

A transaction whereby taxpayer, who owned apartment house corporation, sold his stock in the corporation to purchasers who dissolved the corporation and gave taxpayer an installment note secured by trust deed on the apartment house resulted in nontaxable capital gain, although there might have been different tax consequences had corporation sold real estate and paid liquidating dividend to taxpayer. District of Columbia v. L. Neyman (1969, 417 A. 2d 1140, 135 U.S. App. D.C. 193).

§ 47–1557b. Deductions.

(a) Deductions allowed.—

* * * * *

(4) Losses.—Losses sustained during the taxable year and not compensated for by insurance or otherwise—

(A) if incurred in a trade or business; or

(B) if incurred in any transaction entered into for the production or collection of income subject to tax under this subchapter, or for the management, conservation, or maintenance of property held for the production of income subject to tax under this subchapter, though not connected with any trade or business; or

(C) of property not connected with a trade or business, if such losses arise from fire, storm, shipwreck, or other casualty, or from theft, except that in the case of an individual, a loss described in this subparagraph shall be allowed only to the extent that the amount of loss to such individual arising from each casualty, or from each theft, exceeds $100.

For purposes of the $100 limitation of subparagraph (C), a husband and wife making a joint return for the taxable year in which the loss is allowed as a deduction shall be treated as one individual. No loss described in this paragraph shall be allowed if, at the time of filing the return, such loss has been claimed for inheritance or estate tax purposes.

* * * * *

(7) Depreciation.—A reasonable allowance for exhaustion, wear, and tear of property used in the trade or business, including a reasonable allowance for obsolescence; and including in the case of natural resources allowances for depletion as permitted by reasonable rules and regulations which the Commissioners are hereby authorized to promulgate. The basis upon which such allowances are to be computed is the basis provided for in section 47–1583e. In the case of property held by any taxpayer on the first day of his first taxable year beginning after December 31, 1968, which, on such first day, was property described in this paragraph, any reduction in the basis of such property for purposes of computing the allowance under this paragraph which resulted from the enactment of the District of Columbia Revenue Act of 1969 shall be treated as an additional depreciation deduction which shall (subject to paragraph (14)) be allowable under this paragraph ratably over such period (beginning not earlier than the first taxable year of the taxpayer which begins after December 31, 1968), not to exceed ten taxable years, as may be agreed upon by the taxpayer and the Commissioner.

* * * * *

(16) Regulated Investment Companies.—In the case of a regulated investment company as defined in section 851 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, which meets the requirements of section 852(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954—

(A) the dividends paid by the regulated investment company which qualify for the dividends-paid deduction under section 852(b)(2)(D) and 852 (b)(3)(A)(ii) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, including dividends considered as having been paid during the taxable year by reason of section 855 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954; and

(B) such amount as the regulated investment company shall designate for purposes of section 852(b)(3)(D)(ii) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 as undistributed long-term capital gains to be included in computing the long-term capital gains of the shareholder. Such amounts shall be included as gains from the sale or exchange of capital assets, as defined in this article, in computing such shareholder's taxable income as defined in section 47–1567.

(16) Real estate investment trusts.—In the case of a real estate invesment trust as defined in section 856 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, which meets the requirements of section 857(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, the dividends paid by the real estate investment trust which qualify for the dividends-paid deduction under section 857(b)(2)(C) and section 857(b)(3)(A)(ii) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, including dividends considered as having been paid during the taxable year by reason of section 858 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954.

SECTION REFERRED TO IN OTHER SECTIONS

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Principal place of business

In this case, there is no question that the principal offices and businesses were located outside the District of Columbia and were located in the states where the loans were made and the payments thereon received. The facts are clear that the principal place of business for each subsidiary was not in the District of Columbia, and the argument that for source purposes there could be more than one source—one within and one without the District of Columbia—is answered by pointing out that by its clear meaning this cannot be. State Loan and Finance Corporation etc. v. District of Columbia (1967, 381 F. 2d 895, 127 U.S. App. D.C. 116).

Source and situs

The source of interest income is the obligor and its situs is his residence. State Loan and Finance Corporation etc. v. District of Columbia (1967, 381 F. 2d 895, 127 U.S. App. D.C. 116).

Source of dividends

The source of dividends is the domicile of the paying or issuing corporation. State Loan and Finance Corporation etc. v. District of Columbia (1967, 381 F. 2d 895, 127 U.S. App. D.C. 116).

Source of income defined

Common sense requires that the question of source or domicile in the case of dividend and interest source is one which is resolved by finding the principal office and business of the corporation. State Loan and Finance Corporation etc. v. District of Columbia (1967, 381 F. 2d 895, 127 U.S. App. D.C. 116).

§ 47–1571a. Imposition and rate of tax.

For the privilege of carrying on or engaging in any trade or business within the District and of receiving income from sources within the District, there is hereby levied for each taxable year a tax at the rate of 6 per centum upon the taxable income of every corporation, whether domestic or foreign (except those expressly exempt under section 47–1554). The minimum tax payable shall be $25.00. (July 16, 1947, 61 Stat. 345, ch. 258, Art. I, title VII, § 2; Aug. 2, 1968, Pub. L. 90–450, title II, § 202(a), 82 Stat. 612; Oct. 31, 1969, Pub. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Deduction of federal estate taxes

Regulation permitting deduction of federal estate taxes paid only on property subject to District of Columbia inheritance tax was required to give way to plain meaning of statute manifesting clear intent of Congress to impose tax on market value of inheritance received and containing no estate tax apportionment provisions. District of Columbia v. M. W. Payne (1966, 374 F. 2d 261, 126 U.S. App. D.C. 47).

The full amount of federal estate taxes, which were paid from personal residuary estate as required by law and a portion of which had been paid on value of Ohio realty devised to persons other than residuary legatee, was deductible in computing residuary legatee's District of Columbia inheritance tax, notwithstanding regulation permitting deduction of federal estate taxes paid only on property subject to the District inheritance tax. Id.

D. Neuman Properties, Inc.* v. District of Columbia, Board of Appeals and Review (D.C. App. 1970, 268 A. 2d 605).

Judicial review

Violations of regulations

In this case the court held that the fact that there had been Housing Code violations, under process of being corrected, in tenant's apartment at time she executed lease does not render lease invalid. C. M. Watson v. S. Kotler (D.C. App. 1970, 264 A. 2d 141).

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Foreign chartered bus tours

In this case the court concluded that the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority lacked jurisdiction to regulate operation of chartered bus tours which originated and terminated outside the metropolitan area and which provided overnight hotel accommodations for tour patrons who were taken on sight-seeing tours with all passengers departing from and returning to same bus at each stop. D.C. Transit System, Inc. v. Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Commission, et al. (1969, 420 F. 2d 226, 136 U.S. App. D.C. 384).

Suspension or revocation of hacker's license

In this case the court held that the Hackers' Board may not suspend or revoke a hacker's license unless it concludes after hearing and upon appropriate findings as required by section 1–1509 that a valid regulation promulgated by the District of Columbia Council under section 47–2345(a) prescribing suspension or revocation has been violated, or unless it can show in the record "reliable, probative, and substantial evidence," supporting its own conclusion that suspension or revocation of the particular license will be "in the interest of public decency" or necessary for "the protection of lives, limbs, health, comfort, and quiet of the citizens of the District of Columbia". G. A. Proctor v. Hackers' Board, Government of the District of Columbia (D.C. App. 1970, 268 A. 2d 267).

Only when the District of Columbia Council promulgates regulation explicitly making violation of public service commission taxicab regulation grounds for suspension or revocation of a hackers' license can such violation constitute the basis for suspension or revocation order by Hackers' License Appeal Board. Id.

Since there was no finding by the Hackers' License Appeal Board that hacker had violated valid public service commission taxicab regulation or that suspension of hackers' license was warranted for protection of public health, comfort or in interest of public decency, nor was there probative or substantial evidence in the record upon which such finding could be made, the suspension of license for refusal to transport patron unless he rode in front seat of taxicab was erroneous. Id.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

In this case the two home improvement contracts made within three days of each other relating to the same house are unenforceable because unlicensed contractor violated District of Columbia home improvement regulations by accepting from homeowner $3,000 in full payment under the first agreement before completion of work thereunder, and homeowner could recover the $3,000 from contractor. *R. SECTION REFERRED TO IN OTHER SECTIONS

This section is referred to in sections 40–105, 43–907, 47–2339.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Constitutionality of regulations

There is a strong presumption of constitutionality afforded to regulations regulating businesses under police power in interest of public safety, and one attacking such regulations on due process grounds carries the heavy burden of showing that the regulation is unreasonable and has no rational relationship to objective sought to be obtained. F. R. Vanderhoof v. District of Columbia (D.C. App. 1970, 269 A. 2d 112).

Suspension or revocation of hacker's license

In this case the court held that the Hackers' Board may not suspend or revoke a hacker's license unless it concludes after hearing and upon appropriate findings as required by section 1–1509 that a valid regulation promulgated by the District of Columbia Council under section 47–2345(a) prescribing suspension or revocation has been violated, or unless it can show in the record "reliable, probative, and substantial evidence," supporting its own conclusion that suspension or revocation of the particular license will be "in the interest of public decency" or necessary for "the protection of lives, limbs, health, comfort, and quiet of the citizens of the District of Columbia". G. A. Proctor v. Hackers' Board, Government of the District of Columbia (D.C. App. 1970, 268 A. 2d 267).

Only when the District of Columbia Council promulgates regulation explicitly making violation of public service commission taxicab regulation grounds for suspension or revocation of a hackers' license can such violation constitute the basis for suspension or revocation order by Hackers' License Appeal Board. Id.

Since there was no finding by the Hackers' License Appeal Board that hacker had violated valid public service commission taxicab regulation or that suspension of hackers' license was warranted for protection of public health, comfort or in interest of public decency, nor was there probative or substantial evidence in the record upon which such finding could be made, the suspension of license for refusal to transport patron unless he rode in front seat of taxicab was erroneous. Id.

Violation of regulations

In this case the two home improvement contracts made within three days of each other relating to the same house are unenforceable because unlicensed contractor violated District of Columbia home improvement regulations by accepting from homeowner $3,000 in full payment under the first agreement before completion of work thereunder, and homeowner could recover the $3,000 from contractor. R. C. Miller v. Peoples Contractors, Ltd. (D.C. App. 1969, 257 A. 2d 476).

§ 47–2346. Prosecutions.

SECTION REFERRED TO IN OTHER SECTIONS

This section is referred to in sections 40–603–1, 45–734, 47–709 to 47–712, 47–716, 47–801e, 47–1215, 47–1531, 47–1534, 47–1593, 47–2405, 47–2413, 47–2618.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Jurisdiction

Letter which was signed by executor of estate and specifically stated that it was sent as agent for residuary legatee and that legatee wished to appeal inheritance tax assessment contained statement "sufficient to indicate that court has jurisdiction of the subject" within rule authorizing informal petitions consisting of letter addressed to the court and signed by taxpayer if it contains such statements. District of Columbia v. M. W. Payne (1966, 374 F. 2d 261, 126 U.S. App. D.C. 47).

A letter which was signed by officer of executor of decedent's estate and which specifically stated that it was sent as agent for residuary legatee and that the legatee wished to appeal inheritance tax assessment substantially complied with District of Columbia Tax Court rule providing for informal petition consisting of letter addressed to court and actually signed by taxpaper if it contains statements sufficient to indicate that court has jurisdiction of subject. Id.

§ 47–2404. Review by court—Decision of Superior Court, when final—Modification or reversal.

(a) Decisions of the Superior Court in civil tax cases are reviewable in the same manner as other decisions of the court in civil cases tried without a jury. The District of Columbia Court of Appeals has the power to affirm, modify, or reverse the decision of the Superior Court with or without remanding the case for hearing.

(b) The decision of the Superior Court shall become final (1) upon the expiration of the time allowed for filing a petition for review, if no petition is filed within that time; (2) upon the expiration of time allowed for filing a petition for certiorari if the decision of the Superior Court has been affirmed on appeal, the appeal has been dismissed, or no petition for certiorari has been filed; (3) upon denial of a petition for certiorari if the decision of the Superior Court has been affirmed on appeal or the appeal has been dismissed; or (4) upon the expiration of thirty days from the date of issuance of the mandate of the Supreme Court, if that Court has affirmed the decision of the Superior Court or dismissed the petition for review.

(c) If the Supreme Court directs that the decision of the Superior Court be modified or reversed, the decision rendered in accordance with the Supreme Court's mandate shall become final upon the expiration of thirty days from the time it was rendered unless within that time either the District or the taxpayer has instituted proceedings to have the decision corrected to accord with the mandate, in which event the decision of the Superior Court shall become final when so corrected.

(d) If the decision of the Superior Court is modified or reversed by the District of Columbia Court of Appeals and if (1) the time allowed for filing a petition for certiorari has expired and no such petition has been filed, (2) the petition for certiorari has been denied, or (3) the decision of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals has been affirmed by the Supreme Court, then the decision of the Superior Court rendered in accordance with the mandate of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals shall become final upon the expiration of thirty days from the time the decision of the Superior Court was rendered, unless within that time either the District or the taxpayer has instituted proceedings to have the decision corrected so that it will accord with the mandate, in which event the decision of the Superior Court shall become final when corrected.

(e) If the Supreme Court orders a rehearing, or if the case is remanded by the District of Columbia Court of Appeals for rehearing and if (1) the time allowed for filing of a petition for certiorari has expired and no petition has been filed; (2) the petition for certiorari has been denied; or (3) the decision of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals has been affirmed by the Supreme Court, then the decision of the Superior Court rendered upon such rehearing shall become final in the same manner as though no prior decision had been rendered.

(f) As used in this section the term "mandate", in case a mandate has been recalled prior to the expiration of thirty days from the date of issuance, means the final mandate. (Aug. 17, 1937, ch. 690, title IX, § 4, as added May 16, 1938, 52 Stat. 371, ch. 223, § 8, and amended June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127; July 10, 1952, 66 Stat. 544, ch. 649, § 3(b); July 29, 1970, Pub. L. 91–358, title I, § 161(a)(4), 84 Stat. 579.)

1952—Subsec. (a) amended by act July 10, 1952, which substituted "the court shall have the power to affirm, modify, or reverse the decision of the Board" for "the court shall have the power to affirm, or if the decision of the Board is not in accordance with law, to modify or reverse the decision of the Board", "decisions of the Board in the same manner and to the same extent as decisions of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia in civil actions tried without a jury; and" for "decisions of the Board, and", and "title 28, United States Code, section 1254" for "section 347, Title 28, U.S. Code", and eliminated provisions which stated that the findings of fact by the Board shall have the same effect as a finding of fact by an equity court or a verdict of a jury.

(a) Where there has been an overpayment of any tax, the amount of the overpayment shall be refunded to the taxpayer. No refund (other than inheritance and estate taxes) shall be allowed after two years from the date the tax is paid unless the taxpayer files a claim before the expiration of that period. The amount of refund of taxes (other than inheritance and estate taxes) shall not exceed the portion of the tax paid during the two years immediately preceding the filing of the claim or, if no claim is filed, then the two years immediately preceding the allowance of the refund. No refund of inheritance and estate taxes shall be allowed after three years from the date the tax is paid unless the taxpayer files a claim before the expiration of that period. The amount of refund of inheritance and estate taxes shall not exceed the portion of the tax paid during the three years immediately preceding the filing of the claim or, if no claim is filed, then during the three years immediately preceding the allowance of the refund. Every claim for refund must be in writing under oath, must state the specific grounds on which it is founded, and must be filed with the Commissioner. If the Commissioner disallows all or any part of the refund claim, he shall notify the taxpayer by registered or certified mail. After receiving notice of disallowance, if the claim is acted upon within six months of filing, or after the expiration of six months from the date of filing if the claim is not acted upon, the taxpayer may appeal as provided in sections 47–2403 and 47–2404 of this title. (c) Any other provision of law to the contrary notwithstanding, if it is determined by the Commissioner or by the Superior Court that there has been an overpayment of any tax, whether as a deficiency or otherwise, interest shall be allowed and paid on the overpayment at the rate of 4 per centum per annum from the date the overpayment was paid until the date of refund, but with respect to that part of any overpayment which was not assessed and paid as a deficiency or as additional tax interest shall be allowed and paid only from the date of filing a claim for refund or a petition to the Superior Court as the case may be.

(d) For purposes of this section, any interest or penalties paid by the taxpayer in connection with an overpayment of tax shall be deemed to be a part of the overpayment of tax. Said term shall mean all sales of tangible personal property to any person for any purpose other than those in which the purpose of the purchaser is to resell the property so transferred in the form in which the same is, or is to be, received by him, or to use or incorporate the property so transferred as a material or part of other tangible personal property to be produced for sale by manufacturing, assembling, processing, or refining. For the purpose of the tax imposed by this chapter, these terms shall include but shall not be limited to the following:

* * * * *

(6) The sale or charges for possession or use of any article of tangible personal property granted under a lease or contract, regardless of the length of time of such lease or contract or whether such lease or contract is oral or written; in such event, for the purposes of this chapter, such lease or contract shall be considered the sale of such article and the tax shall be computed and paid by the vendor upon the rental paid: Provided, however, That the gross proceeds from the rental of films, records or any type of sound transcribing to theaters and radio and television broadcasting stations shall not be considered a retail sale.

(7)(A) The sale of or charges to subscribers for local telephone service. The inclusion of such sales and charges in the definition of the terms "retail sale" and "sale at retail" shall not authorize any tax to be imposed under this title on so much of any amount paid for the installation of any instrument, wire, pole, switchboard, apparatus, or equipment as is properly attributable to such installation.

(B) The term "local telephone service" means—

(i) the access to a local telephone system, and the privilege of telephonic quality communication with substantially all persons having telephone or radio telephone stations constituting a part of such local telephone system, and

(D) The term "private communication service" means—

(i) the communication service furnished to a subscriber which entitles the subscriber—

(a) to exclusive or priority use of any communication channel or groups of channels, or

(b) to the use of an intercommunication system for the subscriber's stations, regardless of whether such channel, or groups of channels, or intercommunication system may be connected through switching with a service described in subparagraph (B) or (C),

(ii) switching capacity, extension lines and stations, or other associated services which are provided in connection with, and are necessary or unique to the use of, channels, or systems described in clause (i) of this subparagraph, and

(iii) the channel mileage which connects a telephone station located outside a local telephone system area with a central office in such local telephone system, except that such term does not include any communication service unless a separate charge is made for such service.

(8) The sale of or charges for admission to public events, including movies, musical performances, exhibitions, circuses, sporting events, and other shows or performances of any type or nature, except that any casual or isolated sale of or charge for admission made by a semipublic institution not regularly engaged in making such sales or charges shall not be considered a retail sale or sale at retail.

(9) The sale of or charges for the service of repairing, altering, mending, or fitting tangible personal property, or applying or installing tangible personal property as a repair or replacement part of other tangible personal property, whether or not such service is performed by other means of coin-operated equipment or by any other means, and whether or not any tangible personal property is transferred in conjunction with such service.

(10) The sale of or charges for copying, photocopying, reproducing, duplicating, addressing, and mailing services and for public stenographic services.

(11) The sale of or charges for the service of laundering, dry cleaning, or pressing of any kind of tangible personal property, except when such service is performed by means of self-service, coin-operated equipment.

§ 47–2701. Definitions.

1. (a) "Retail sale", "sale at retail", and "sold at retail" means all sales in any quantity or quantities of tangible personal property, whether made within or without the District, and services, to any person for the purpose of use, storage, or consumption, within the District, taxable under the terms of this chapter. These terms shall mean all sales of tangible personal property to any person for any purpose other than those in which the purpose of the purchaser is to resell the property so transferred in the form in which the same is, or is to be, received by him, or to use or incorporate the property so transferred as a material or part of other tangible personal property to be produced for sale by manufacturing, assembling, processing, or refining. For the purpose of the tax imposed by this chapter, these terms shall include, but shall not be limited to, the following:

* * * * *

(4) The sale or charges for possession or use of any article of tangible personal property granted under a lease or contract, regardless of the length of time of such lease or contract or whether such lease or contract is oral or written; in such event for the purposes of this chapter, such lease or contract shall be considered the sale of such article and the tax shall be computed and paid by the vendor upon the rental paid: Provided, however, That the gross proceeds from the rental of films, records, or any type of sound transcribing to theaters and radio and television broadcasting stations shall not be considered a retail sale.

* * * * *

(6) The sale of or charges for admission to public events, including movies, musical performances, exhibitions, circuses, sporting events, and other shows or performances of any type or nature, except that any casual or isolated sale of or charge for admission made by a semipublic institution not regularly engaged in making such sales or charges shall not be considered a retail sale or sale at retail.

(7) The sale of or charges for the service of repairing, altering, mending, or fitting tangible personal property, or applying or installing tangible personal property as a repair or replacement part of other tangible personal property, whether or not such service is performed by means of coin-operated equipment or by any other means, and whether or not any tangible personal property is transferred in conjunction with such service.

(8) The sale of or charges for copying, photocopying, reproducing, duplicating, addressing, and mailing services and for public stenographic services.

(9) The sale of or charges for the service of laundering, dry cleaning, or pressing of any kind of tangible personal property, except when such service is performed by means of self-service, coin-operated equipment.

(b) The terms "retail sale", "sale at retail", and "sold at retail" shall not include the following:

(1) Sales of transportation and communication services other than sales of local telephone service.

(2) Professional, insurance, or personal service transactions which involve sales as inconsequential elements for which no separate charges are made, except as otherwise provided in subsection 1(a) of this section.

(3) Sales of tangible personal property which property was purchased or acquired by a nonresident prior to coming into the District and establishing or maintaining a temporary or permanent residence in the District. As used in this subsection, the word "residence" means a place in which to reside and does not mean "domicle."

(4) Sales of tangible personal property which property was purchased or acquired by a nonresident person prior to coming into the District and establishing or maintaining a business in the District.

(5) The use or storage within the District of tangible personal property owned and held by a common carrier or sleeping-car company for use principally without the District in the course of interstate commerce, or commerce between the District and a State, in or upon, or as part of, any train, aircraft, or boat.
